

Questions to Ask Your Child

Talk with your child about his or her work in iRead. This helps show your child that you value his or her developing reading skills. Here are some questions that can help you start conversations:

1. Which iRead teacher are you working with now? (Answers could be Miss A, Coach Z, Mr. Sounders, Mr. Seemore, Mrs. Wordy, or Professor Readwell.)
2. Which iRead teacher is your favorite?
3. What are some of the letters, sounds, or kinds of words you have been working on?
4. Which eBook did you last read in the Success library?
5. What was your favorite part of the book?
6. What have you collected in your iRead backpack? (Answers may refer to collecting stars for learning alphabet letters or letter sounds; Word Cards; number of words read, badges, and books.)

Questions to Ask Your Child's Teacher

Take advantage of opportunities to communicate with your child's teacher. Attend conferences and open school nights. Find out if it is appropriate to email with your child's teacher. Here are some questions that are important to ask about your child's reading development:

1. How was my child placed in iRead?
2. What are my child's strengths in learning to read?
3. What are my child's weaknesses in learning to read?
4. Is my child learning to read and write?
5. Is my child reading on grade level?
6. What can I do at home to help my child?
