Reading and Writing Strategies for Multilingual Learners

Multilingual learners have a wealth of strengths to offer their classrooms and communities. When they come to school, they bring linguistic and cultural knowledge that are assets we can leverage when teaching. Learn how to accelerate academic language through high-interest content, consistent instructional routines, and daily practice opportunities to help your multilingual learners in grades 4-12 become confident and competent participants in content-area classes, college, and beyond.

In this edWebinar, learn strategies for:

- Teaching high-leverage academic language and vocabulary
- Improving speaking and listening skills through daily opportunities for accountable class collaborations
- Developing academic writing skills to successfully write summaries, arguments, informative texts and essays
- Engaging students with relevant, rigorous, and increasingly complex informational and literary texts
- Making content area connections to improve success in secondary school, college, and the workplace
